

2024 Summer Reading Blurb

Andrew knows a thing or two about ADVENTURE. He's been lucky enough to travel all around the world performing his silly circus tricks. Come out to your library this summer to see him in person and be entertained by his juggling, comedy and tales of adventure.

Bio

Andrew Scharff, was born in Philadelphia, PA way back in the 70s and then in 1995 he attended the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Clown College. After a brief stint as a walking-talking Christmas tree in Atlantic City, NJ, he went on to travel with circuses in the U.S., Japan and Europe, including a command performance for his holiness Pope John Paul the second. He performed for many summers in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina and in 7 different international clown festivals in China. For 5 years he entertained in the theaters of the Celebrity Silhouette and Solstice which took him all over the world. More recently he's journeyed to every county in Central America and half of South America performing tricks for people as part of his Clown the World Project. @clowntheworld on instagram & facebook www.clowntheworld.com

- 45 min show
- Silly stuff for the younger kids
- High level circus skills for the older kids and adults
- Nostalgic sense of vaudeville for the older adults if you have room to invite them too

Info or the library

Andrew likes to arrive around an hour ahead of time to get set up
If there is a table to set up some books on that is great
If there is a flat dolly to help load his stuff in and out that's great too.

His instagram and facebook are both @andrewbigshow
