

2025 Andrew's Big Show Summer Reading

It's already a very colorful world, and Andrew tries to make it even more colorful with his skillful circus tricks and fun comedy. Come out to your library this summer to see him in person, be entertained by his antics, and see if he can add even more color to our world.

Bio

Andrew Scharff, was born in Philadelphia, PA, way back in the 70s. In 1995, he attended the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Clown College. After a brief stint as a walking-talking Christmas tree in Atlantic City, NJ, he went on to travel with circuses in the U.S., Japan, and Europe, including a command performance for his holiness Pope John Paul II. He performed for many summers in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, and in 8 different international clown festivals in China. For 5 years, he entertained in the theaters of Celebrity Cruise Ships which took him all over the world. More recently, he's journeyed to every country in Central America and half of South America performing for people as part of his Clown the World project.

@clowntheworld on Instagram & Facebook www.clowntheworld.com

- 45-minute show.
- Silly stuff for the younger kids.
- High-level circus skills for the older kids and adults.
- Nostalgic sense of vaudeville for the older adults, if you have room to invite them too.

Info for the library

Andrew likes to arrive around an hour ahead of time to get set up.

If there is a table to set up some books on, that's great.

If there is a flat dolly to help load his stuff in and out, that's great too.

His Instagram and Facebook are both @andrewbigshow.
